A Western Sun

Dm F Gm
I caught my eye on a western sun.
Dm F C
Something moved, leapt up slow.
He said, my child, son do you recall
Dreaming big, feeling tall.
Well, I lost my height, timeless wonders
Left it out for the wind to steal.
Had wide eyes behind this fear of falling.
I said I'm no child, I'm no child at all.
C
He said, don't hold back.
Dm F Gm
Go everywhere, feel everything, see everyone you would yourself.
Dm F C
Nothing's lost, of all you've held.
A7 A#
Child your heart's on fire.

F C A#
All of mine, my love
Dm C
It grows out like a vine
A#
Wouldn't be so tangled
F C
If time moves slow.
A#
Well, I'd rest my shoulders.
Dm C
And who knows, what we might find.

Well I saw that light, grasp and tremble.
On a long dark night, an earthbound soul.
Tired and weary, lost and reaching out.
Only then will you find yourself.
He said, don't hold back.
Go everywhere, feel everything, see everyone you would yourself.
Nothing's lost, of all you've held.
Child you're heart's on fire.

CHORUS

So rest your eyes, on an endless sea, he said
Let it rise to the highest depths.
You're not this body, it's only a spark of light
From the endless fire, you hold inside.
He said, don't hold back.
Go everywhere, feel everything, see everyone you would yourself.
Nothing's lost, of all you've held.
Child your hearts on fire.

CHORUS
