Verse 1

```
Gm                  C
```
This is the story of a poet I know,
```
Eb                   Bb
```
He takes it easy and he talks real slow.
```
Bb                          C
```
They call him lazy but when push comes to shove,
```
Eb7                                  Bb
```
Lazy goes crazy for a real hot love.

```
Bb              Gm             C
```
Dirty jeans and a whiskey coke,
```
           Eb                      Ab      Eb
```
He whispers “Called the raven: ‘Nevermore’”
```
Bb              F#
```
Hot love’s on the barroom floor
```
F    F#m7b5     Gm      Ab  A
```
And the poet says, he says

Chorus

```
Bb                                          Bb     Eb  Bb   (lick)
```
“Please don’t groove in the middle of my love connection.
```
Bb                          F           Eb     Bb     Eb  Bb
```
“Been waiting all night just to move in this general direction

```
```
“I said please don’t groove in the middle of my love connection.
```
Bb                        F           Eb     Bb
```
“Been waiting all night just to move in this general direction”

Verse 2

Hot love, sweet nectar above,
She’s either queen of the mean or she’s sweet as a dove,
Carefully choose all the words you say
Or you’ll be getting hot love in each and every way

Lazy knew what he had to do
But all the other poets were comin’ in too
The poet sat back, his whiskey pouring
And said, he said
